of the high school. The problem then was how to convince the Carnegie Free Library trustees, who had the reputation of being hard-boiled.

A. B. Norton, Jr., immediate past president of the club, A. M. Haines and V. H. Solson volunteered to approach the trustees. They conducted the negotiations diplomatically and made no secret discovery. The library trustees were not hard-boiled, to the contrary—they were a mighty reasonable group of men. In a few weeks an agreement was reached between the Kiwanis Club and the trustees under which the Kiwanis was given practically carte blanche in the matter of the use of the basement. The library reserved the furnace room and one small room in which to store magazines.

"Take the rest of it and fix it up," was the final verdict.

To L. P. Ruth, treasurer of the library board, the Kiwanians owe a debt.

"You boys plaster those walls and ceilings," said Mr. Ruth. "That meant an item of close to $1,000 more than was originally anticipated. 'You will never be satisfied if you don't,' he continued. 'But when a good door and then try to do your plastering at the end, and you will have no floor.' Mr. Ruth has built quite a number of buildings.

The basement was plastered; not only the walls and ceilings, but the partitions which originally were intended to have been temporary. The result is that the job cost the Kiwanis Club an excess of $5,000, but the enthusiasm displayed by the members at the first luncheon today justified every nickel of it.

Under the agreement with the library, the Kiwanis Club has full charge of the basement, both as to its maintenance and its rental.

There is one restriction, in that no part of the library can be used for religious or political purposes. Rentals go to the Kiwanis Club and are to be used for the maintenance of the place. This maintenance cost is considerable. The club has a janitor employed who devotes practically his entire time to keeping the quarters in condition. The weekly luncheons, served by the ladies of the various chapters, one organization handling all in the luncheon during the month.

Already arrangements have been made to permit the Rotary Club to use these quarters and it is likely that when the fall meeting begins that the Woman's Culture Club will also use them. The big room will be available for social gatherings.

The general contract for the improvement of the library basement was let to the Connelville Construction Company, and the work was done under the personal supervision of A. M. Haines, its general manager, who is a director of the Kiwanis Club. The plumbing was installed by William Sweeney, head Kiwanian, Kiwanian Clyde J. Burr of the Anderson-Loucks Hardware Company supplied the stoves, steam table, office sink and kitchen fixtures. There are facilities for serving 200, and space to serve 300 or more.

In addition to having the basement of the library, the Kiwanis Club has already undertaken the beautification and care of the library lawn. Ornamental trees have been set out and by mid-summer this lawn will be one of the show places of the community.

A splendid tribute was paid the Kiwanis Club by L. P. Ruth, treasurer of the Carnegie Free Library trustees, and himself quite a builder for Connelville, as a number of handsome structures on the South Side bear witness.

"It was a distinct pleasure for the board of trustees to make an agreement with the Kiwanis Club," he declared. "It is the only organization which has done something for the library before asking anything in return, and it is giving much more than it asks. The Kiwanis Club volunteered to maintain the library lawn. This was an unsolicited offer, and is appreciated. In spending several thousand dollars to improve the basement of the library it is doing a wonderful work in making the institution what it has always aimed to be, a public-service organization. The Kiwanis Club will not profit financially through this arrangement, because it is not organized for profit, but it will make this place what it was originally intended, a real community center."

The Kiwanis Club now has 120 active members, including the lending business and professional men of the community. Its officers and directors are as follows:

President, Dr. E. B. Edin. Immediate past president, A. B. Norton Jr., vice-president, Lawrence E. Hines, secretary, John J. Brady, treasurer, J. H. Armstrong, district trustee (representative of the club in the district and international organizations) George S. Connell, directors, A. M. Haines, F. M. Hines, V. H. Solson, W. H. McElhinney, J. T. C. Long.

The Kiwanis Club is composed of business and professional men, membership being limited to two in each line of activity. It is non-sectarian and non-political.

The meeting today was the largest in attendance that has yet been held. There were 112 members present and 16 guests, a total of 128. The most speech today was given by Charles M. Stahl, the stationer. The attendance price donated by F. Howard Moore, was won by Dr. J. B. Carroll.

SCOTSDALE, May 15.—When the season of the Scottdale Independent baseball team opens Saturday afternoon it will be under conditions that have not existed for a long time. The opening game will be played in an enclosed field in which there will be seats for 1,800 to 2,000 people.

Three weeks ago tomorrow boys of the high school began work on getting the flying field at North Scottdale on the outskirts of the town, ready for use as a ball ground. Representing the High School Athletic Association, J. Nevin Waughman and O. P. Ballantine secured a lease on the grounds and in turn leased to the baseball association.

The field has just been completed and will be in excellent condition for the opener. It is 600x300 feet in size and has been enclosed with a high board fence. Besides being useful as a baseball field it affords a quarter-mile track and is available for football.

The work of preparation of the field was done by the senior, junior and sophomore classes of the high school and the boys have made excellent progress, impeded as they were by rainy weather. The work has been financed by the high school.

Fight to Finish on Nationalization of Coal Industry Urged

NEW YORK, May 15.—John J. Cornwell, former governor of West Virginia today urged the National Association of Manufacturers to take a definite stand against nationalization of coal. "Whether the miners' organization will make an issue of the expiration of the present contract of the six hour day and five day week remains to be seen," he said. "I do feel certain, however, that sooner or later the miners' organization will make an issue of the nationalization of the coal mines and will fight it out with a strike. "Hence, whatever our troubles may be with respect to the iron supply it seems to be that we should not our faces sternly against the proposition of yielding in this demand which will be made within the next few years and which will have to be faced and fought."

If the miners and other organized labor groups carry their fight successfully through Congress, he asserted, the labor groups also would be powerful enough to fix their own rates of pay and determine their own working conditions.

Mr. Cornwell said he believed the large consumers would aid in stabilizing distribution if they were willing and able to store a larger quantity of coal than they ordinarily do and thus stretch coal production over the entire year.

DRECO BLOTS OUT YOUNG GIRL'S SUFFERING

Stomach Trouble and Poisonous Blood Disappear

Youth, how many of us wouldn't give a few years in our life to have it again. Free from the responsibilities that come with matured age. But this youth must be health to enjoy all its benefits. Miss Mildred Hersberger, well known in McKeesport, had for a long time been in a badly rundown condition that made her susceptible to many sicknesses. Her stomach bothered her continuously. And it was no uncommon thing for her to faint away. All due to the fact that her system was rundown. Her organs did not function properly. "Only the day before I started taking Dreco I fainted away," says Miss Hersberger. "This fainting worried me all the time." "And there seemed to be a lump in my stomach all the time. I could not relish my food, knowing fully that I would suffer the agonies of indigestion after eating. "But I can look back on this suffering now and only wonder why I did not start taking Dreco sooner."

"I have taken three bottles of this wonderful medicine and all my stomach trouble disappeared and I have not fainted once since I started taking Dreco."

"I hope everyone who is sick, has anything the matter with their kidneys, or stomach or liver will start taking Dreco. It is the one sure remedy."

To those persons who suffer from headaches, gastritis, nervousness, constipation, poor sleep, weak kidneys, lazy liver, a deranged stomach or impure slow flowing blood, Dreco will prove a wonder to you. Try it today and see how quick the results will come.

Dreco is being introduced by the Connellsville Drug Company. Call on them and they will gladly tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy.

Fourth Annual Banquet of Tennis Association Held, Enthusiasm Is Displayed

Twenty-Five Members Entertained at Cannoy Restaurant Last Night.

COURTS NOW BEING USED

The fourth annual banquet of the Connellsville Tennis Association was held last night at Andy George's Cannoy Restaurant in the Royal Hotel. About 25 members were present and fully enjoyed the "lay-out." The affair is held just before the opening of the season each year and although it did come a little later than usual this spring, lacked no enthusiasm.

A number of new members were present and became acquainted with the older heads. Usual open challenges were issued by the "champs" and a number of interesting talks were given.

W. F. Brickman, the first president of the association, mentioned the matter of a junior organization. At present the sons and daughters of members are allowed to use the courts during the morning and early afternoon hours unless association members themselves wish to go on. Mr. Brickman's suggestion, however, is for some sort of an organization of young people to get them enthused in the game. Some felt the proposition would be a more successful one if there were more court room.

Attorney S. H. Goldsmith was toastmaster, being introduced by I. L. Horowitz, chairman of the banquet committee. He called on a number of members for a few remarks, including O. R. Horvick, president, Clarence A. Fort, J. K. Smith, James M. Driscoll, Attorney Walter P. Belmont and William F. Brickman.

Fort, who is superintendent of the grounds, reported the courts rounding into good shape. Although not at first the rains last week settled the surface and although they are yet somewhat uneven, a number of members have spent some strenuous hours upon them.

Those attending the banquet were E. J. Carr, Dr. J. B. Carroll, James M. Driscoll, John W. Dulson, Max C. Floto, Attorney S. H. Goldsmith, O. R. Horvick, Robert Horvick, I. L. Horowitz, Elwood M. Keazy, Clarence A. Fort, Fred R. Fort, Albert Solson, Dr. L. Strallow, Attorney W. F. Schenck, Harry L. Shaffer, Julian B. Rosenbaum, R. K. Smith, M. M. Snyder, William F. Brickman, and Oliver Goldsmith.

Another good afternoon for track and field workouts was afforded the athletes of the Connellsville High School yesterday and the boys are rounding into shape for the meet Saturday. The affair was to have been held last Saturday but was postponed because of the steady rains.

Only three more days until the opening of baseball season now.

The Connellsville Independents will have a real old-time opening. A band will be out and there will be a parade to the park.

The St. Louis Cardinals added to their percentage yesterday by defeating Boston, 10-5, while the Giants and Pirates, together with all the other teams in the National League, were idle because of rain.

Increase your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the way S. S. S. builds Blood-Cells; this means strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often

Only well-developed, healthy men and women enjoy the best life, proven low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1856, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity-lover. You have confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the ago lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. "GIMME"—With Helene Chadwick and Gaston Glass in the leading roles provides splendid entertainment today and tomorrow at this theatre.

"Gimme" is one of those light domestic comedy things seasoned with a good dash of drama, that only Rupert Hughes is so expert in concocting. Though Mr. Hughes directed and edited the production, he divided credit for the scenario with his wife; it cannot be said, however, that one is responsible for all the good portions and the other for all the poor portions—for there aren't any poor portions.

The titles are a delight—but then all of Rupert Hughes usually are. The story, in brief, is of a self-sufficient girl, an interior decorator, Fanny Danforth by name, who marries (Clinton Foris, only son of a wealthy and doing mother who openly shows her disapproval of her son's choice by withdrawing all financial assistance and permitting Clinton to shoulder his own responsibility.

Fanny finds herself in the uncomfortable position of having to ask the now too-wealthy Clinton for every cent of spending money. She is indebted to the extent of $500 (her room to profit is a trousseau) to her former employer, the interior decorator, who provides complications for the plot by trying to captivate Fanny's obligation to him. This results in a misunderstanding between the husband and wife, but Fanny never again has to utter the hateful word "Gimme."

The Soisson

"THE FLIRT"—Described as "the story of the folks next door" is attracting record breaking crowds at this theatre. It is a portrayal of the big moments in the lives of simple people.

"The Flirt" is the story of the folks next door. It lifts the roof from a middle class house and finds the Madison family of Capital City with a surplus of love and a shortage of money. The father's name is as good as a bond, but it doesn't draw interest. One daughter, is selfish, lazy, intolerant—but pretty Laura, her sister is a reflection of her gentle mother. Hedrick, the little boy is a composite of every "baby brother" crowd that exists with the men of the town, the struggle of the father for a living, how he is involved in a confidence game and the eventual triumph of love, gives the screen what is perhaps its greatest blinding of laughter and tears with drama.

It is perhaps a coincidence that the thirteen members of the all-star cast who appear in "The Flirt" are among the most exemplary members of the Hollywood film colony in private life.

Lillian Gish, Helen Jerome Ledy, Nell Cruth, Lydia Knott and Dorothea Wolbert, the five women of the exceptional cast are all noted as screen players and like active in Hollywood and Universal City, where the production was filmed.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday Priscilla Dean will be seen in "The Flame of Life."

The Orpheum

"TUES OF THE STORM COUNTRY"—Showing today and tomorrow at this theatre mark a vital epoch in photoplay history inasmuch as it is the first instance in which a great star has resuscitated from the past the picture which was her first and most important place in the photoplay hall of fame and produced for a second time in an elaborate scale of advantage of all the progress the film making industry has made in the intervening years. Mary Pickford, the Queen of the Screen, re-created this lovable character before the camera at the Paramount Theatre's studio in Hollywood.

It was just eight years ago that Mary Pickford portrayed the lovable character of Tess before the motion picture camera and this a little triumph of hers was so all-potent pass that there is no way of determining how many millions of people in all the civilized nations of the world saw it.

As a matter of fact this photoplay was exhibited continuously until every play was worn out and the negative lost its power to reproduce. During the last two years Mary Pickford has been the recipient of thousands of requests to once more offer herself in this masterly story.

Newspapers and magazines of many countries have paid in the claim for this great production. An American audience has not only been disappointed by missing a greatly improved version of the play, but critics everywhere incline to be her most artistic achievement and the consensus of opinion seems to be that it will live through posterity as one of the four most classic of the first two decades of the new era.

Lillian Gish and Priscilla Dean will be seen in "The Flame of Life."

THE NEW HOSIERY

Pretty Colors and New Styles
Much in Evidence for the Spring and Summer.

The promising vogue of high-colored shoes this spring and summer brings up the question of whether it is likely to be accompanied by a corresponding demand for high colors in hosiery. As spring draws nearer the indications of a very brilliant color season become more and more pronounced. We are promised a blaze of color in millinery prints, embroideries and—finally—in shoes. The prominence given in colors in the displays of the smart shoe shops is strikingly noticeable.

What will this mean to hosiery? What color in hosiery, for example, will a woman want to wear with red shoes or green shoes?

One can get some idea of the general tendency in this matter, however, by considering the fact that bright colors this season are largely accessories. In other words, they are exemplified chiefly in millinery, embroideries and prints. The groundwork of the costume, so to speak, will be a plain color, and it is likely that hosiery will be worn to match this ground color rather than the more highly colored accessories. For instance, one of the costumes observed in a smart hotel recently was of navy serge with red trimmings. Red shoes and plain black silk hose were worn with this costume. Another was a costume of gray crepe with multicolored embroideries. Gray shoes and hose to match were worn with it.

While it seems probable that plain colors, such as black, tan, gray and white, will be most favored even with colored shoes, there is a good chance that a high color note will be struck in stockings. It has been generally taken for granted that embroidered clocks are passé, and that only the open-work clock will be good this spring. But it is just possible that the high color vogue in shoes and trimmings may bring the embroidered clock back with a bang. Undoubtedly plain hose to match the costume with bright colored clocks to match shoes and trimmings would be a smart note and quite in line with the season's tendencies.

It goes without saying that a vivid color season such as we are going to have this spring must have an effect on hosiery. We have become accustomed to fancy color effects in sports hose, and we may see a vogue for similar effects in silk hose before the season is far advanced. The predominance of brilliant prints especially is apt to create a demand for multi-colored effects in hosiery. Some novelties in two and three-color effects are already on the market, and many more are promised in the near future. —Dry Goods Economist.

Here is a charming dress made of soft jade green crepe romaine. The collar of battenberg lace hangs much longer in the back. A sash of green forms a buckle in front.

Sewing Doll Looks Like Lady's Hand Bag

Now the sewing doll! She looks like a lady's bag. A doll is dressed in ribbons, with blouse and overskirt hanging loose. The undershirt, made of narrow ribbon ruffles, is padded out with hair or cotton forming a cushion for pins and needles. A ribbon in the bottom of the slip hem draws the stuffed undershirt in and holds it tight about the doll's knees. The feet and lower legs of the doll hang below with pantilets showing. From the ribbon girdle of the dress hang a pair of embroidery scissors, a lady's small bag that is a needle book, a bodkin, and such other articles as the sewer might desire to use. The doll bag hangs from the wrist by ribbons which are caught under the doll's arms.

New Effects in Wool

There are novelty effects in wool—blend crepes, and these are selling especially well in the medium-priced frocks. They are dresses of the type that may be worn under a coat, and as street frocks when the season advances. But crepes are used for these frocks also and in mocha/Lanvin green and gray shades are selling well.

The Cost of Management and its relation to the Price of Gasoline

This is the ninth of a series of advertisements by The Atlantic Refining Company on the TRUTH ABOUT GASOLINE.

COULD you manage a business selling a million dollars' worth of merchandise for $1,400 a year? That is all it costs per million dollars of sales for the executive management of The Atlantic Refining Company.

As a user of gasoline you are interested in this fact. For, as with every other large industry, there is always some one ready to tell you that executive salaries in the oil industry are high.

Usually such charges are of the most random sort. They are seldom based on a proper comprehension of the size and intricacies of the business. "High salaries" are often a favorite topic of the self-seeking politician.

The salaries of the officers and directors, and the managers of the principal departments of this Company, based on the 2½-year period ending June 30, 1922, amount to one-seventh of 1% of the aggregate volume of business.

Let's see how this works out from your standpoint as a motorist:

If every one of these executives had worked for nothing, it would have saved you just twenty-four one-thousandths (24/1000) of a cent per gallon.

Thus for every 1000 gallons you use you'd save twenty-four cents. And as an average motorist consuming 400 gallons per year, you'd be more than ten years saving a dollar.

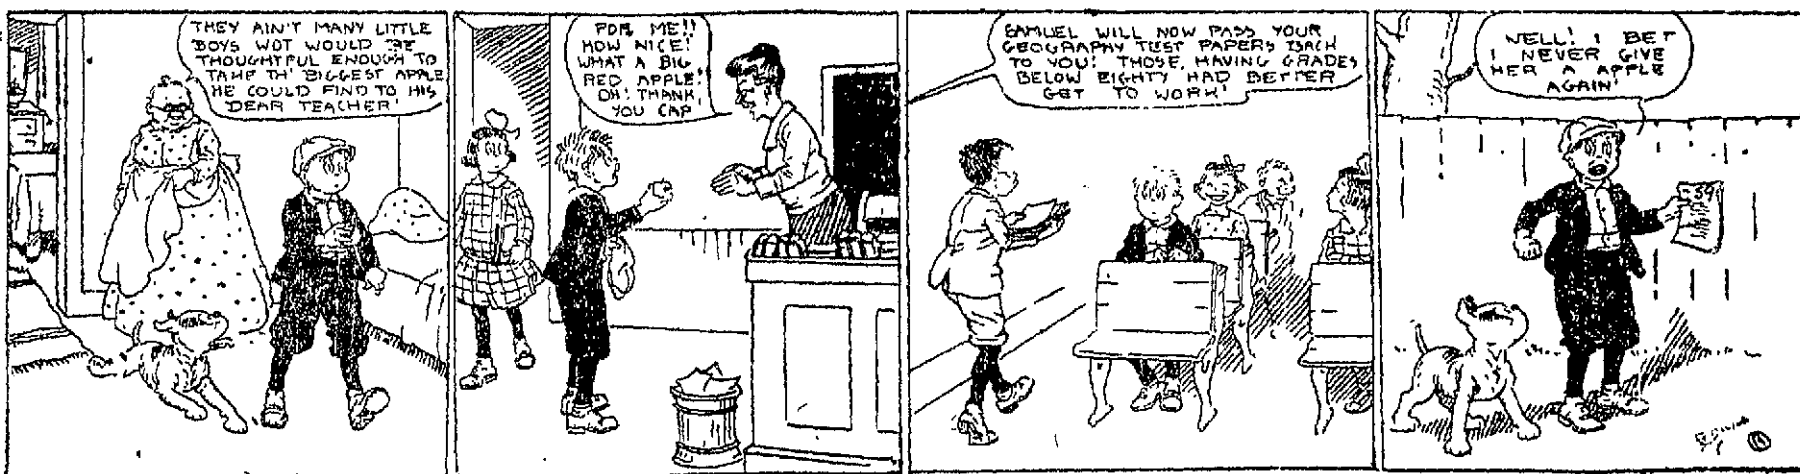

This means that about ten cents of your yearly gasoline money is used toward the upkeep of the human dynamo which keeps a great industry moving; toward a management which must be of the very highest calibre the industrial, commercial and financial world can produce. In probably no other business are the ramifications so wide nor the details of manufacture and distribution so complicated as in the oil industry. In no other business are skill and experience in so many directions needed.

SCENE OF CHINESE BANDIT RAID

"Lincheung, scene of the Chinese bandit raid, lies along the Tientsin-Pukow railway, whose building was interrupted in 1900 by the Boxer uprising," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"The scene of the kidnapping of American passengers is 371 miles south of Tientsin, northern terminus of the line, where a party of Americans, including Herbert Hoover, were besieged during the famous Boxer outbreak.

"Lincheung is important commercially because it is the junction of a 19-mile branch railroad to Yihshien, a military town, whence comes the coal which is distributed to all the towns and cities along the 92-mile of the Tientsin-Pukow line.

Road Marked Locomotive Innovation.
"This road was built as the result of a joint concession obtained by Great Britain and Germany in 1898. Its building was notably politically because it marked the first railway project in China where the construction and the control were vested wholly with the Chinese government.

"Well-equipped express trains, with sleeping and buffet cars, run daily each way between Tientsin and Pukow.

"South of Lincheung the train runs among hills which rise suddenly from the plains and shortly beyond the town of Han-chuang passengers suddenly discern the high embankment of the Great Canal, bordered by busy villages and flecked with white-clad junk boats laden with the rich products of fertile Shantung.

Province of Peanuts and Hair Nets.
"Peanuts and hair nets are two important products of Shantung. Coal and iron mines are worked with modern machinery. A passenger on this railway would harbor as little thought of bandits as he would in traversing similar woad, tobacco and cotton fields, and truck gardens of our own country. The population is denser in this province than in our most densely populated state, Rhode Island. The climate has been compared to that of Maine.

"Began about 15 years ago the hand manufacture of hair nets has attained remarkable proportions. The hair originates in China, is shipped to Europe and America to be chemically treated for 'decoloring,' is sent back to merchants in treaty ports and redistributed for net making among homes of the interior. Only recently has an attempt been made to prepare the hair in the province.

Were Bandits 'Confucius' King?
"The suggestion that the recent hold-up was participated in by bandits of Confucius, many times removed, may seem preposterous to admirers of the peaceful and urbane sage; yet it is probably literally true. "Confucius" was born at Kufu barely 70 miles north of the scene of the bandit attack and his tomb lies here, surrounded by many thousands of his descendants. The way in which this family or clan has persisted and multiplied deserves to rank as one of the historical wonders of the world. It is estimated that 70 per cent of the population over a large region around

Kufu are descended from the great teacher. At the little town, which is at once the birthplace and burial place of Confucius, lives today his seventy-sixth lineal descendant the 'Holy Duke,' K'ung.

"The towering mountain, Tai Shan, China's most holy shrine, lies in sight of the Tientsin-Pukow railway not many miles north of the point at which the attack was made. It has been deemed holy since before 2200 B. C. Confucians, Taoists and Buddhists alike revere this mountain and have erected shrines at its foot, on its slopes and at its summit. It is a favorite point for pilgrimage, as many as 10,000 pilgrims a day making the journey to it during February and March. Many of these climb laboriously to the top and there worship.

"The contrast between the barbarous China of bandits and the modern China of Western wars was unconsciously heightened by the choice of Lincheung for the attack. There the branch line to Yihshien runs to one of China's greatest coal mines, furnishing fuel for its modern factories and power stations. This largest mine in Shantung is operated by a Chinese company, unlike other mines in the province which are being exploited by foreign capital."
